the census bureau is the statement that Kansas is the richest state in the Kansas is the richest state in the Union. For years Massachusetts has stood first and several states were far ahead of Kansas. Gradually Kansas has grown rich, and today stands first of the states with an average wealth per capita of $1.629.61, while Massachusets, the next, has $1,353.47, and Ohio has $1,305.30.

Kansas is a state of diversified crops and an industrious people. It has no shape.

The Ledger doesn't admire Kansas, but does admire the way in which an agricultural state has accumulated wealth. There is no land in Kansas as good as that of Alabama. Our state is better, but our farmers do not care to make money in small ways.
